When we bought the boat last year it hadn't moved for about four years, and the gearbox had water intrusion (possibly through the dipstick which sits low in the bilge.

note - this is a hydraulic gearbox, and works using pressure :wave: hello All! I've got a canal narrow boat fitted with a Lister SR2 engine and LH150 gearbox.. We had a few days out on the boat in May / June, and now the problem has returned (no neutral or reverse) - I've topped the lubricant levels correctly and set the 'Ahead Adjustment' screw in the gearbox to the recommended spacing, has anyone out there any advice before I phone the mechanic ($$$) again?.
